

List of Potential Mills Connected to Johnson Johnson Palm-Derived Oleochemical Supply Chains

List of Potential Mills in Palm-Based Derivatives Supply Chains Provided by Johnson & Johnson Direct Suppliers in 2021

Johnson & Johnson sources soap noodles and oleochemical derivatives for use in a wide range of personal care products from multiple suppliers with sites around the world. These suppliers, in turn, source both derivatives and palm and palm-kernel oils from a web of supply options including refineries, traders and crushers to make products for all their customers, not only Johnson & Johnson. As product is mixed, derived, and traded along the supply chain it becomes increasingly challenging to trace specific volumes of derivatives to specific mills. This means the lists of mills provided to us from our suppliers represent mills that are potentially linked to our supply chains—being listed does not necessarily mean a mill is connected to the specific materials we purchase. Regardless of whether we can establish a mill's direct connection to our specific supply chains, we work with our direct suppliers to address nonconformances with our Responsible Palm Oil Sourcing Policy.

The list of 806 mills provided below includes mills that are potentially connected to the top 90% of Johnson & Johnson's traceable volumes purchased in 2021. This list is based on aggregated information provided to ASD (Action for Sustainable Derivatives) by our suppliers for 2021 and is therefore a snapshot in time. Additionally, we provide our suppliers' mill information only with their express permission. We will continue to work alongside ASD and Earthworm Foundation, and our top suppliers (by volume), to improve the quality and completeness of our data so we may identify risks, validate sources and, if needed, remediate nonconformances with our Responsible Palm Oil Sourcing Policy.

We update our potential mill list on an annual basis on jn.com.
